

Rosie's KidSight Story

Do your Lions provide pediatric vision screenings?

Rosie's KidSight Story might be a great resource for your clubs!

Rosie's KidSight Story is the 1st children's book to recognize and promote the service of Lions Clubs.

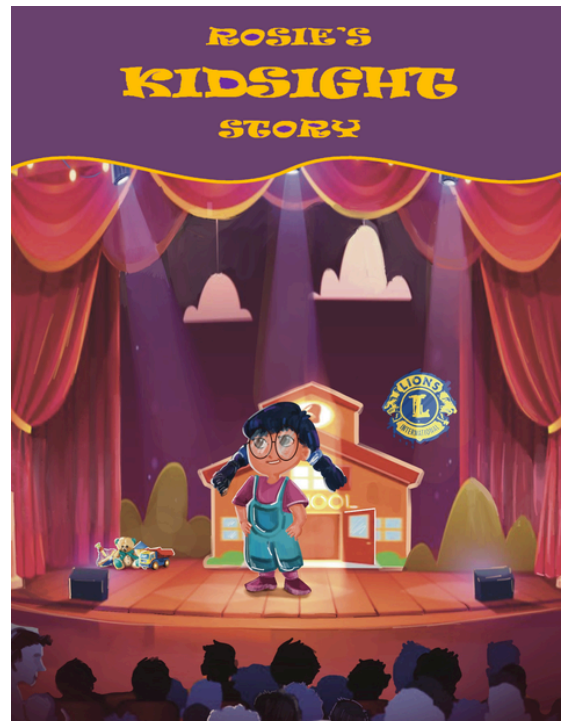

PlusoptiX has recognized Rosie's KidSight Story as great resource for:

- Growing Vision Screening Programs
- Promoting your Lions Clubs and Service
- Schools
- Parents and Children

Prepare the children you screen and help their parents understand the importance of pediatric vision screenings.

Tennessee Lions Charities, Inc. created Rosie's KidSight Story to enhance Tennessee's KidSight pediatric vision screening program. Our staff would love to help you customize Rosie's KidSight Story with your logos and recognition for your donors.

Rosie's KidSight Story

Rosie's KidSight Story tells the story of Rosie Jones - named for the wife of Lions Clubs International founder Melvin Jones - and her first experience with the Lions Club and the KidSight vision screening program. Rosie is four years old and has just moved to a new town. Rosie is excited to start her new preschool until she learns that Lions will be coming to check her eyes. Rosie's excitement turns to panic. While waiting for the screening, Rosie daydreams of a lion in a doctor's jacket. Rosie also worries that she will not be able to recognize letters even though she loves to sing the ABC song. Eventually, Rosie learns that there are two kinds of lions in the world, the kind of lions she has seen in the zoo and the Lions that dedicate their time to helping children like Rosie to see the world.

Rosie's KidSight Story is the first children's book to highlight the dedication and service programs that Lions Clubs bring to children and their vision. We feel Rosie's KidSight Story is a great way to inform parents and children about the KidSight vision screening program and build interest in their local Lions Club and Lions Clubs International.
